THIRTY-EIGHTH YEAR NO. 3

MISSISSIPPI INSURANCE BUREAU TO RERATE BAY ST. LOUIS IN FEBRUARY

LAND SUITS PROMINENT ON DOCKET

Chancery Court Cases Are Handled by Chancellor
Russell

The January term of chancery court convened Monday morning with Judge D. M. Russell, newly elected judge, on the bench. It is thought that all cases will be completed by Thursday night. The judge stated he would continue until the docket had been cleared. T. U. Sisson of Gulfport, was official stenographer for the session.

Cases heard through Wednesday predominated with land cases, while a few divorce cases were disposed of and some guardianship matters were completed.

Divorces granted as shown by the minutes through Wednesday included the following: Willie Welch vs. Eva Welch, white, granted; Joe L. Ladner vs. Cevella Ladner, white, granted; Millie Williams Saucier vs. Louis Saucier, colored, granted; Louise Lundy vs. Emmett Lundy, colored, granted; Maud Cornelius vs. Sam Cornelius, colored, granted; A. P. Ramsey vs. Beulah Holmes Ramsey, white, granted; Susan Morris, minor, vs. Charlie Morris, granted. The case of Strahn vs. Strahn in which the 11-year old wife sought divorce was heard Tuesday and the decision handed down late Wednesday. The judge refused the divorce, remanding the case to rules.

Guardianship Cases
Several guardianship cases were settled. In the case of Simon Favre, his brother, Joseph Favre was appointed guardian, Simon Favre being declared insane and incapable of transacting business. In the estate of E. H. Ladner, minor, Mrs. Nina Ladner, mother, was granted permission to pay obligations of the child and to invest the estate in building and loan shares. The disability minority was removed from P. J. Raymond, his mother, Mrs. F. J. Raymond, suing in his name. In the estate of Corinne McGinty, N. C. M., George R. Rea, guardian, was granted authority to settle claims against the estate.

Settling Estate
Several final decrees were taken in the settlement of the estate of the late J. A. DeMontluzin in which Reta DeMontluzin was complainant. In the case of Rene DeMontluzin vs. Corinne Lewis, et al., it was decided to sell the land and partition the estate. Those appearing in the various cases as defendants and who did not contest the cases were Corinne Lewis, Sadie Pollatsky, Florence Lewis, Alice Whitney, Harold Spurl, with Rene DeMontluzin constituting the heirs at law. In the case of Caroline Favre vs. Rene DeMontluzin the court ordered the Merchants Bank & Trust Company, executors of the estate of J. A. DeMontluzin, to execute and deliver the deed sought.

Additional Time
Additional time was given in several cases to file amendments to answers. In the case of A. J. McLeod vs. John Rogers it was decided to hear during vacation after amendments were filed. Chris Ladner, et al. vs. W. A. McDonald was given 30 days time for filing amendments. In the case of Garfield Ladner et al. vs. W. A. McDonald 30 days was allowed. A second cause of Garfield Ladner vs. W. A. McDonald was dismissed. Sylvan Ladner et al. vs. Fred Curet was given 30 days.

Clearing Titles
Three titles to land were cleared for the Mexican Gulf Land Company, namely, in the suits vs. New Orleans Item et al. vs. M. N. and M. C. Manning, and vs. Helen Knight et al., in each of which no confessions and final decrees were taken.

Vendor's Lien Granted
In the suit of Ethel H. Gex and Emilio Cue vs. De A. Gallagher for the sum of $127.75, a debt, the court granted a vendor's lien to the complainants on lot 264 as shown on the Drake map, the property to be sold for the debt.

TWO GREAT LOVERS OF THE SCREEN TO A & G. THIS WEEK-END

John Gilbert and Garbo In Love Thrill, "A Woman
of Affairs"

"A Woman of Affairs" is a picture of a story by Michael Arlen that will entrance those persons who formed the John Gilbert and Garbo habit with "Flesh and the Devil," and helped it along with "Love." This Metro-Goldwyn film opens at the A. & G. Theatre, Bay St. Louis, Sunday evening and will close Monday night. The success of this production isn't permitted, however, to depend upon its success only upon the glamorous personality of the Swedish star, the charm that is Gilbert's or the sordid ingenuity that is Arlen's.

To assist them they have an amazingly able group of players which includes Lewis Stone, Hobart Bosworth, Dorothy Sebastian, John Mack Brown and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., all Bay St. Louis favorites. And don't forget, Fairbanks, Jr., is a new star. "The Barker," at Saenger's, New Orleans last week easily proved this. The result is the pinnacle of entertainment, a goal for which it is apparent, when author, stars, cast and director are considered, that the makers were aiming before a camera was focused on a set in place.

"A Woman of Affairs" is not only a picture for those who enjoy watching Miss Garbo and Gilbert demonstrate that work before a camera may have compensatory moments. It is a picture for everyone who enjoys a good story, a superb cast, and perfect direction.

This is a picture of dramatic force and emotional intensity that no one who goes to pictures can afford to miss.

GEO. HURST ADDRESSES TEACHERS

Extension Course Organized
and Opened to All Hancock County Teachers

George Hurst of the State Teachers College, Hattiesburg, was the main speaker at the meeting Saturday of last week of the Hancock County Teachers Association. This meeting had been postponed from January because of illness among the teachers. The attendance was fair considering general health conditions.

Mr. Hurst discussed the extension work which the college is doing this year and which is being done by county teachers as a result of the interest and cooperation of D. J. Everett, county superintendent of education. The course offered will be in education and classes will meet in Bay St. Louis at the high school each Saturday morning from 9 to 12 o'clock, over a period of 12 weeks, the first class to meet Saturday of this week.

The work done in this course will be uniform to the work done in the college. Mr. Hurst will teach the course. The credits gained from the course may be applied either toward a college diploma or for renewal of licenses. A number of teachers have already enrolled and others are expected to come in Saturday.

In the absence of president S. J. Ingram, president of the association, E. E. Lumpkin, vice-president, presided at the meeting which was opened by the singing of the Star Spangled Banner, with Albert McQueen leading.

Mrs. R. D. Love of Kilm, county chairman of the Parent Teachers Association and vice-chairman of the district organization, was to have spoken on the P-T-A. work but was unable to be present. However, she prepared a most interesting and illuminating paper on the subject and this was read by Miss Stringer of the Kilm school faculty.

Field Day Committee
The field day committee was appointed at this meeting, three chairmen being named and each given authority to appoint other members of the committee. Mr. Hillis is chairman of the athletic committee; Prof. H. H. Dedeaux is chairman of the literary events committee; and Albert McQueen is chairman of the sports events. The date of field day has not yet been determined.

The association accepted the invitation of the Kilm Vocational high school presented through Prof. S. P. Powell, superintendent, to meet at the Kilm school for the P-T-A. meeting at which time Prof. Hurst will be present and give the weekly class lesson to the association, and at which time the teachers will be guests of the school at luncheon at noon.

Due to lack of time the departmental meetings were not held Saturday.

At Jung Hotel

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ellsworth Kenney are located temporarily at the Jung Hotel in New Orleans. They went to the city last week accompanying the wife of the late Mr. Kenney, who died in the city last week.

WILL DIP CATTLE FOR TICK

Dr. J. A. Lynn, Federal Veterinarian, Supervising
Conditioning of Vats

Working under the authority of federal and state laws regarding the compulsory dipping of cattle and stock to eradicate the cattle tick, Dr. J. A. Lynn, veterinarian from the Department of Agriculture and Bureau of Animal Husbandry, arrived in Hancock County January 4. He met the board of supervisors while in session last week and discussed with them the work, receiving from them cooperation in his work. C. L. Skatvold, county engineer, is constructing the new vats, reconstructing and conditioning the old vats throughout the county, preparatory to the beginning of the dipping in March.

There will be a total of 65 vats in the county to be used for dipping. Dr. Lynn said. "Of these 58 are old ones which can be made ready for use again," he said. In company with Mr. Skatvold, Dr. Lynn has visited the vats, arriving early and late to all parts of the county, advising himself with the general conditions, meeting the cattle owners and laying the foundation of his work.

"I solicit the aid and cooperation of every citizen in the county in putting over this work successfully," Dr. Lynn said. "I believe that material good will come to stock owners as a result of the eradication of the ticks from the county and increased valuation of animals will more than make up for the work-attempting to dip. It will be my duty to supervise dipping in the county to do all I can to make the work a success from every point of view, but this can only be done by the aid of the owners," he said.

MERCHANTS BANK & TRUST CO. ELECTS OFFICERS FOR YEAR

Geo. R. Rea, President; J. K.
Edwards Chairman Board
of Directors

George R. Rea was elected president and E. J. Lacoste and Chas. G. Moreau vice presidents and John K. Edwards chairman of the board Friday night by the newly-elected board of directors at a meeting of the stockholders. W. Val Bates was elected cashier and Chas. Traub, Jr., assistant cashier for the new year.

W. J. Gex, Sr., was elected the bank's attorney.

Stockholders elected: O. T. Arnold, J. A. Breath, J. K. Edwards, George H. Edwards, E. J. Lacoste, F. V. Lacoste, C. C. McDonald, C. G. Moreau, Geo. R. Rea, George E. Pitcher, directors for 1929.

The Merchants Bank & Trust Company recently celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary, and has kept abreast with the rapid growth of the city and Gulf Coast in general.

cess, materially speaking.

Due to the wonderful natural endowment of the Bay-Waveland Coast where the morning sun and the evening shade are irresistibly pleasing to all, an apartment house might be constructed with every room an "enjoyable" room, which would probably mean the building plan should be U-shaped or in the center, a form of building which the early French and Spanish settlers found especially satisfactory in this climate, the charm of which is the patio or inside court garden being limitless.

The question arises, why would an apartment house prove a good investment here and the answer has to do with two features particularly. First, the commuter likes to travel a certain distance but the experience of large cities has proven that 50 miles is about the extent of a commuter's wish. Hence, the Coast is at a good distance from New Orleans from the commuter's point of view. Secondly, there are at present no houses in Bay-Waveland district which are modern in all respects that can be rented by the month, season or year. This seems a broad statement, but local real estate dealers, and conscious as it were, state that they are absolutely unable to interest people in taking the usual rental home in the district.

An objection often heard, not to the houses themselves but to their far-awayness from neighbors which makes them unsatisfactory to young wives, for example, is that the houses are far from the night train and who are literally afraid to remain in the houses alone until the night train arrives.

An apartment house would offer an opportunity to those who are unable to find a home in the district, and who are unable to find a home in the district, and who are unable to find a home in the district.

OTHER PHASE OF COLLEGE LIFE TO BE SEEN IN PLAY

High Stepping Youth and Beauty to Be Seen In
"Red Lips"

Portraying a new side of collegiate life in vivid colors but with rare understanding, "Red Lips," starring Charles Rogers and Marian Nixon, will be presented at the A. & G. Theatre for one night only, on Thursday of next week, January 24th.

Because of its youth and interest, college has been a frequent subject of motion pictures. Universal has chosen to show the glamorous side of college life, and depicts the romance between a shy youth and an off-campus flapper. Rogers and Miss Nixon, two of Hollywood's youngest stars, are said to portray to perfection the heart of modern youth. An entire college campus was constructed for the picture. It includes a track, dormitory, students' amusement hall and other features of collegiate life. The picture also shows the petting parties and whoopees.

"Red Lips" is from a story by Percy Marks, author of "The Plastic Age," sensational novel of college life. "Red Lips" is equally sensational and similar in theme.

The supporting cast is reported to be unusually good. Stanley Taylor appears as the room-mate of Rogers. Hugh Trevor, Hayden Stevenson, Andy Devine, Robert Seiter and Earl McCarty are all in the cast, plus a bevy of Hollywood's snappiest beauties.

HANCOCK CO BANK HOLDS ELECTION

Directors and Officials Re-Elected—Hon E. J. Gex
Added to Directorate

At the annual meeting of stockholders of the Hancock County Bank held in the banking house in Bay St. Louis a few evenings since, H. S. Weston, R. C. Engman, Dr. A. R. Robertson, Cartwright Eustis, Carl Marshall, F. LeDine, E. J. Gex, and Leo W. Seal were elected to serve on the board of directors for the new year, all re-elected save E. J. Gex whose name was added to splendid directorate.

Following meeting of stockholders newly elected directors organized by re-electing H. S. Weston president; R. C. Engman, vice-president; Dr. A. R. Robertson, vice-president; Leo W. Seal, cashier; Peter Tudury, S. L. Engman, C. J. Mitchell, E. N. Batchelder, cashiers.

The past year for the Hancock County Bank, with branches at Pass Christian and Long Beach, serving the Gulf Coast, has been another ad twelve-month period of success to the long list of years to the credit of the bank. C. B. and the usual handsome dividend was paid to stockholders.

An Apartment House In Bay St. Louis Would Prove Good Investment Is Belief

An apartment house in Bay St. Louis along the Bay-Waveland beach front would prove a great addition to the housing facilities of the section and the investment would be beneficial, is the belief expressed by a number of citizens interested in the development of the Coast. Many indications point to the success of such a project. Not only are there many suitable sites along the beach front which are priced in keeping with general conditions but there are a number of such sites which could be purchased even lower than the improvements would seem to warrant.

For example, property on the Waveland front could be bought recently at a figure which was actually less than the cost of the seawall, roadway, sidewalk and utility which protect the land from the possible damage of storms from the Gulf. Further, this land is not at all assessed for the improvements which the county has placed before the property. Within Bay St. Louis the property is at a very low valuation so that several sites could be purchased at a figure which would be well worth anyone's interest who planned an apartment investment.

It has been said that apartment building on the Coast is impossible because of the climate. On this face of the facts which a number of successful apartment houses on the Mississippi Coast and other southern Coasts notably Florida, have presented, the successful construction and permanence of standing, that such an assumption is slightly absurd if not totally untrue.

Contractors have learned through judicious practice that certain types of construction have been successful in the Gulf Coast climate. The fact is that the climate is not so bad as it is often represented to be.

REPORT OF SEAL SALE IS MADE

Chairman of Tuberculosis
Seal Sales Work Reports
Over $100 Raised

Mrs. H. C. Brownell and Mrs. G. C. McDonald, who were in charge of the sale of Christmas seals for the Mississippi Tuberculosis Association have made the following report: "The winner of the prize donated by Mrs. E. J. Leonard to the pupil in Hancock County selling the largest number of seals was won by Abbie Bourgeois, 9-year-old pupil of the Taylor school. Alton Erwin won the prize donated to the Central school by Mrs. C. C. McDonald. Several other small prizes were donated by Mrs. H. C. Brownell and were won by Sam Benigno and Ralph Rugan of the Taylor school and Hugh Collins and Marvin Cronier of the Webb school.

"At the present writing the returns from the sale of the seals are as follows: Central school $19.26; Webb school $10.00; Taylor school $22.00; St. Stanislaus College and St. Josephs Academy $5.00; Hancock county public schools outside Bay St. Louis $22.34; and sales by the chairman and workers $26.00, making a total of $104.96. Some further returns from the high school and from the country schools are expected.

We wish to thank everyone that participated in the sale of the seals the purchasers as well as the workers, the editor for the publicity given, the A. & G. Theatre management for exhibiting the slide and the pupils of the schools in particular for their energetic work. We hope that the year 1929 will see a larger sale of the seals in Hancock county for this worthy cause of "health for all and all for health."

ST. MARGARET'S DAUGHTERS OFFER AID TO DISTRESSED

Voluntary Help Will Be Given Freely During The Influenza Epidemic

St. Margaret's Daughters announce that during the influenza epidemic the members will render any aid or assistance that they are called upon to give to those in need or distress. They request the physicians to call upon them to help with the sick people who need nursing or material benefits and they ask the general public to notify the chairman of the sick committee, Mrs. Marie Monti, of any known need and immediately assistance will be given.

Members of this organization have been doing much during the past few weeks in helping with the sick and distressed and are ready to do all in their power to alleviate suffering.

the picturesqueness of the Coast; like the people, but we do not like the draughty houses which we can rent," one prospective winter resident said recently.

"I could stand everything else about the old houses which you show me if I might only have steam heat," a Northern tourist stated who sought a house for the winter months.

We of this section who are interested in attracting new residents tourists and visitors here should bear in mind that we should do all possible to meet their requirement in comfort.

However, a further consideration in regard to an apartment house that should be borne in mind is that a too expensive building which would mean a large rental for the various apartments, would prove as unsatisfactory here at the present time as the Coast's need, and who agrees heartily that an apartment building is the best possible investment on the Coast at the present time, when asked why he did not build the building said: "That is not my line. I do not like to build a building which is not a permanent investment. The man or woman to handle such a proposition should have some experience in this land and house business and they stand less chance of making a mistake."

The Echo adds its plea in urging some one to build an apartment house here on the Bay-Waveland Coast, stating emphatically that the Echo from its years of watching the passing throng of Coast visitors, believes that no one could find a more desirable location for an apartment house than here.

En Route to New Orleans
Mr. Johnson, who has had extensive flying experience, was in aviation during the World War and holds a transport license. He was engaged in delivering the Fokker from the factory to St. Tammany, Airway, New Orleans. He left the factory in New Jersey Sunday and made only two stops before reaching the Bay.

GATE COMPLETED AT LEETOWN'S COMMUNITY PARK

Only Rural Playground and Park In County Is to Be Lighted with Electricity

The gate at the Leetown Community Playground and park was completed Monday when John F. Buehler of Bay St. Louis, went out to the park in company with the home demonstration agent and donating his services completed the decoration of the gate and entrance. The park committee had previously finished the foundation and structural work of the gate, and had erected the fence.

Jos. F. Favre of the county road force has placed the two outdoor fireplaces for the park and will build them probably this week. Monti's Garage donated the irons for the fireplaces and the iron rods to be placed in the back of the fireplaces to serve as cranes for the pots. The purpose of the outdoor fireplace is to serve as place for cooking, picnic lunches and by the care exercised in using them fires may be prevented. The brick and stone with which the fireplaces are to be built have already been placed on the grounds by the park committee from the community organization.

The organization is rejoicing that the park is to be lighted with electricity. John Rester whose home is near the park and who has a Delco light plant at his home has offered to donate the power to light the park providing the committee will secure wiring and lighting fixtures. This offer has been happily accepted. These lights will mean much to the pleasure of the community in using the park for events at night. Interested citizens from the community are engaged in trimming the trees and further beautifying the park.

NEW FOKK'R MONOPLANE IS CRASHED

Plane En Route to New Orleans
Forced to Land Here
—Pilot Injured

The Fokker cabin monoplane which crashed in the waters of the Bay of St. Louis Monday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock, when the pilot, Douglas D. Johnson, was forced to make a landing, has been raised from the sands and water and is found to be a total loss, the handsome new $22,000 machine being completely wrecked. Mr. Johnson, who is a local people, raised the plane Tuesday and prepared to ship it back to the Atlantic Aircraft Corporation factory, the makers of Fokker planes at Hasbrouck, N. Y.

The plane was forced down at Bay St. Louis because of engine trouble resulting from stripping of the timing gears. The engine began to give trouble early in the afternoon and the pilot sought to bring the plane as far as possible. When flying over the Coast the trouble became worse and he looked for a landing field, stating that he could have landed on the beach boulevard at Waveland but autos approaching made it impossible to find a clear stretch. He attempted to land in the water near the foot of Coleman avenue but as the heavy plane struck the water the wheels would not move rapidly and the plane somersaulted and turned completely over burying the pilot underneath the plane in two feet of water and deep mud. As the plane hit Mr. Johnson was stunned and partly unconscious. He stated that when he came to himself he was lying in muddy water and was near to drowning. He kicked a hole in the side of the plane and literally dug himself out.

Local Aid

An auto containing Mrs. James Gravemert, her son, Gerald who was driving, other children and Mrs. M. D. Leche, saw the crash and rushed to Mr. Johnson's aid. Three men whose names were not learned took a skiff and went to his rescue. When he was brought to the shore Mrs. Gravemert took her car and carried him to the Leche home on Carroll avenue where first aid was given him and where he was supplied with dry clothing. Mr. Johnson is only recently up from an attack of influenza and was feared that the exposure would endanger his condition. He was taken to Dr. J. C. Buckley for treatment where it was found he had suffered a broken shoulder blade but his ribs were not fractured as first thought.

Mr. Johnson was taken to the scene of the crash by Andre Leche and Gerald Gravemert and here he received many offers of assistance. Russell Manieri, aided him in raising the plane and preparing it for shipment to the factory.

En Route to New Orleans
Mr. Johnson, who has had extensive flying experience, was in aviation during the World War and holds a transport license. He was engaged in delivering the Fokker from the factory to St. Tammany, Airway, New Orleans. He left the factory in New Jersey Sunday and made only two stops before reaching the Bay.

RERATING OF CITY IN FEBY.

Mayor Traub Announces
State Rating Bureau Will Send Crew by First

Bay St. Louis will be rerated by the Mississippi State Rating Bureau looking toward a reduction of insurance rates, Mayor Chas. Traub, Sr. announced this week, following receipt of the report of two members of the Bureau, Thos. Jones and Mr. Johnson, who were present here for the final test of the recently purchased fire engine.

"The bureau promises to send a crew here to begin work by the first of February," Mayor Traub said. "We feel almost definitely sure that we can make eighth class in the rating," he said.

At present Bay St. Louis is rated between ninth and tenth class which carries a high rate of insurance. If the city can be placed in the eighth class this will mean a reduction of insurance in the city of approximately $10,000 a year, Mayor Traub pointed out, quoting from insurance agent's figures. If the city should fail to make eighth class and made only 9th class for all parts of the city, still a great saving would be made. However, the city is hoping to be classed even as prospective for the seventh class which would mean that no exposure would be considered. The state law gives the seventh class exposure variation rate which means consequent higher insurance and the city is aiming to reach the seventh class or better and thus eliminate the exposure hazard.

KING'S DAUGHTERS PLAN CARD PARTY BENEFIT WEDNESDAY

Meeting Monday Afternoon
Proved Very Interesting
—Large Attendance

The Bay St. Louis Circle of King's Daughters and Sons enjoyed a very interesting meeting Monday afternoon at the Hotel Weston. The meeting was unusually well attended and good discussion prevailed. Routine business was transacted and excellent reports were heard and approved of the work at the Emergency Hospital and from the charity work during the past month.

A benefit card party will be given by the circle at the home of Mrs. E. J. Leonard of North Front street Wednesday afternoon, February 23, at 2:30 o'clock, and the general public is cordially invited to attend this party which promises to be most enjoyable. Extensive plans have been made for the party which will be a handkerchief party, in that handkerchiefs will be used as prizes. Each table will be given a prize and special prizes will be awarded for a variety of plays, creating interest. Refreshments will be served. Any game of cards may be played and parties are urged to reserve tables.

The committee appointed for the party includes Mrs. K. W. Pepperdene, Mrs. C. L. Skatvold, Mrs. Marjorie Nye and Mrs. E. J. Leonard. Mrs. A. F. Fournier, president of the circle, who is in New Orleans for the winter, came over for the meeting.

SCHUBERT MUSIC CLUB WILL GIVE PROGRAM

Mrs. H. U. Canty, a director of the Philharmonic Society of Gulfport, will present the Schubert Music Club of Bay St. Louis of which she is a director, in a recital of French music at the Hotel Markham Monday night, January 21, 8 o'clock. The plan of the Philharmonic Society is to have state director responsible for one program at an open meeting during the year and Mrs. Canty is presenting as her program the Bay St. Louis Club—a musical organization of which the Bay is justly proud. The program at the Markham is open to music lovers of the Coast who are invited to attend.

The Schubert Club is planning an elaborate program to be presented in Bay St. Louis about a month from now at which time the Bay friends of the members will be invited to hear the concert.

Rev. Clark Will Preach.

Rev. C. C. Clark, pastor of the first Methodist church, who has been confined to his home by an attack of the flu has recovered and is able to be out. He will fill the pulpit at his church Sunday at both morning and night services. He will tell of his visit to the International Missionary Conference held in Memphis January 4-8, which he attended, and will preach on missions using two phases of this subject at the two services. His young son, Mr. Clark, is also attending the conference.

EXTRA SESSION STILL LOOKED FOR.

Notwithstanding statements of administration leaders that there would be no second extra session, the air is not clarified on that point and those who are wise are making their arrangements for another special session sometime in February. No definite disposition of the revenue question has been made and there are probably other things which the governor might want, such as an eighty-two million dollar road bond bill, a state printing plant, a purchasing agency, a state charity hospital commission, a state police department. Nothing, however, has been mentioned by the governor about his proposal to build brick roads, a matter to which he devoted considerable time during the last campaign, even showing the cockeyed world samples of paving brick which he proposed to make in a state plant.

NO MORE COUNTRY NEWSPAPERS.

Turning to the editorial page of one of our valuable State exchanges the other night the caption at the head of the editorial column read "A Cornstalk Newspaper" and not thinking much of such a newspaper we closed up in disgust and went to hunt a friend. Pass Christian Tarpon.

The kind of newspaper referred to by our Pass Christian contemporary is fast fading. The truth is there are no more such newspapers except in rare instances and these are doomed to die.

The day of the country newspaper, as we know it, is passing. It lives only in sentiment. Making of news from a few lines of a newspaper is not the same as making of news from a newspaper. The day of the country newspaper is passing.

WONDERFUL RECORD.

The men who flew the Army monoplane, Question
Mark, for 150 hours and 45 minutes have made a remarkable demonstration of the ability of a plane to stay up for a continuous flight of more than 10,000 miles by refueling while in flight. This flight broke all previous records either of heavier or lighter-than-air craft.

The value of this performance means much from a commercial standpoint. It shows that a plane can "take off" with a lighter load than has been possible hitherto for long flight, and the "take off" has been the most dangerous incidents of such flights. A number of planes have been wrecked and some of their crews killed in accidents resulting from efforts to get off the ground with excessive loads.

Commercial planes can, therefore, carry a more useful, paying load than hitherto, if arrangements have been made whereby additional fuel and oil can be delivered to them, after a few hundred miles have been flown. Transcontinental passenger and freight planes on non-stop journeys, should not be long in development
now that it has been shown how successfully refueling can be done while in the air.

The crew seem to be very excellent men. While under old conditions their names would be all to make them real to the American people, through the medium of another wonderful scientific appliance, the radio, thousands of Americans heard these five fliers relate in a few sentences their impressions of their demonstration. Each man modestly ascribed the credit to somebody else in the main.

The Army Air Service should feel very well pleased over this latest success of its branch.

WAVELAND HAS GREAT FUTURE.

Completion of seawall and paved roadway spells the future of Waveland, and Bay St. Louis correspondingly.
The Sea Coast Echo last week recorded the sale of land and other property interests in Waveland and the information is authentic. Waveland is on the eve of a building boom.

Beach dwellings are undergoing renovation and a number of new ones to follow. The municipality of Waveland announces rebuilding of the city hall and that same will be enlarged to accommodate more pupils at the public school, same building used for double purpose.

Plans call for not only renovating but remodeling,
which, when completed, will be a stucco structure, substantial and of a most ornamental appearance.

Waveland is essentially a suburb of New Orleans, and the fact of its proximity, less than fifty miles, make it ideal for commuting. A greater leverage than all of its immediate and future success is found in the fact of the building of the short line auto road from New Orleans to the Mississippi Gulf Coast, work on which in Louisiana has already begun, and the Mississippi end, through Waveland, finished.

It requires no vision of a seer to foretell Waveland's active and rapid development as a choice and exclusive residential section. Clermont Harbor, too, adjoining, will come in for a liberal share of the bounty to accrue
from major developments.

Property values should advance correspondingly.

TRAGEDY SOMEWHERE EVERY DAY.

In Memphis, Tenn., Mrs. W. K. Sibley lay dying from pneumonia. Her husband of seven months declared he could not live without her, just as other husbands have done. Going into another room he shot himself, showing that he, at least, believed what he said.

In Grand Rapids 17-year-old Orrin H. Hoover, a high school boy, shot himself, after killing first, the man he believed had sold his father whiskey. High strung, impulsive, the boy met his problem in his own way, which is unfortunate, but the next time a 17-year-old warns a speak-easy operator in that vicinity the bootlegger may listen.

In Chicago a Judge, presiding over a divorce court, told a two-year-old boy to choose between his father, on one side, and his mother and her new husband on the other. The child, apparently confused, picked out the clerk of the court and then his stepfather but,
after leaving the court room came running back in tears, saying, "I want to stay with you daddy." A sad spectacle, when a judge decides matters on the snap decision of a harassed child, who knows not his own mind, but, perhaps, sadder still is the plight of the little boy, torn between daddy and mother.

In Vandergrift, Pa., 11-year-old Clarence Hill told police that his father and mother quarreled "last night" that early in the morning he heard his father say, "If you laugh again, I'll kill you," and that he heard two shots. Clarence, and two other children found both parents dead when they got into the room.

FEATURE TREAT FOR ECHO
READERS.

Readers of The Sea Coast Echo are to be congratulated on the splendid story, "The Desperate Lover," by E. Phillips Oppenheim, to begin in next week's issue and to run serially for a number of weeks. Publication was to have begun this week but Mr. Oppenheim's representative at New York failed to send the first installment sufficiently early.

No lover of real romance, fascinating fiction will want to miss the first and subsequent installments. "The Desperate Lover," is a novel of an exile's love for a mysterious, beautiful woman, a halted duel, a secret society, a murder plot—the most thrilling, exciting, romantic story from the pen of the Prince of Story Tellers, a writer who helped make the Saturday Evening Post famous.

A word to the wise is sufficient. Keep your subscription paid up and do not miss a number of The Sea Coast Echo.

PROBING SECRETARY OF STATE'S OFFICE.

The newest probe inaugurated by Governor Bilbo is that of the office of the Secretary of State. The order of the Governor directs the auditors appointed by himself, to make an audit of the affairs of that office beginning in 1901, being the latter months of the administration of the late Col. Power, entire administration of the late Joe W. Power and the present administration of Walker Wood.

The administration of the office of Secretary of State by these three controllers for more than a quarter of a century has been without reflection or disparagement and their friends have no fear of the outcome of the Governor's probe.

NEW YORK
TODAY

The New Yorker who spends his days in the heart of the skyscraper business zone, usually has a home where there is a wide sweep of open space. The downtown office worker, much like the stranger in town, finds the building canyons of lower Broadway overpowering in size, and he hunts until he finds a lofty home overlooking the Hudson far up Manhattan Island, or a quiet roadside cottage across the river in Jersey. There are others, of course, who prefer the courtyard apartments of the midtown zone, but they are in the minority. The veteran New Yorker loves New York, but inhales and exhales the cool, pure air of the suburbs with a zealous delight.

Upper Riverside Drive in the vicinity of the Dyckman ferries to New Jersey is dotted with apartments overlooking the wide river and they are filled with downtown office workers and their families. It is still Manhattan, but it is many hundred feet above the sea level and there is a rural crispness to the air,
with a view that does not resemble
New York, as the city is generally pictured.

Further up the river the apartments become fewer, but there is a generous sprinkling of fine private dwellings and most of them are the realms of New York business men who prefer to spend their more private hours in the warmth of a rural fireplace and to rise with the first burst of the morning sun over a neighboring hillside.

Long Island, too, is filled with homes of New Yorkers, many of the more successful occupants motoring into town through rustic roadways, or, in the summer, by swift motor boats which are tied up at private docks. Thousands of others commune with the sea from the Atlantic shore of New Jersey.

Realizing the growth of the city has crammed out grass plots and fresh flowers, the hotels offer the greatest diversion. The lobby and public rooms of many of the hotels are filled with live, healthy palms and cut flowers and many have summer roof gardens where dining is different up with the tops of the skyscrapers.

The grill room of the Roosevelt
during the summer is like a country garden and there are balconies on many of the upper rooms on which guests may sit and read or view the city. Flowers fill the dining rooms the year round, giving a little back-to nature touch to a city of stone and steel.

One of the new skyscrapers that is going up will have a promenade
"deck" on its uppermost story. People who visit it will saunter about the clouds in the early morning. And if your hat happens to blow off, the best thing to do is forget it.

and was suing for recovering of damages.

Reasonable expectation of life is now limited to fifty-five years for the average. Fortunately, when open sewers ran through streets, with graveyards on hillside draining into wells below, life averaged less than twenty years. Science says we already have sufficient medical knowledge to make life's expectation twelve years longer, but we do not use what we know.

The big problem is extending life for men and women past fifty. Barring cancer and other troubles, not understood, prolonging life is not complicated. Eat, sleep, exercise and breathe properly and living to ninety will not be difficult. Eating is especially important. We are what we eat.

Luigi Cornaro proved it when, at forty years of age, doctors told him
he was hopeless.

He cut his diet to twelve ounces of solid food, with fifteen ounces of light wine per day, wrote an interesting book when past ninety, lived past one hundred and wrote to the Archbishop of Venice. He mounted his case without difficulty and had to live past ninety to realize that the world is beautiful. He made his wife live as he lived, and she passed one hundred. Francis Bacon supplies interesting details of Cornaro's life, as do other ancient writers.

REGULAR MONTHLY MEET CO. BOARD SUPERVISORS

JANUARY MEETING A. D. 1929.

State of Mississippi, County of Hancock.

Be it remembered that a regular meeting of the board of supervisors in and for the county and state, for said county and state, at the courthouse thereof in the city of Bay St. Louis on the first Monday of January, A. D. 1929, same being the first day of said month and being the time and place for the holding of said meeting.

There were present to-wit: H. S. Weston, president of said board; Jos. P. Moran, F. Z. Goss and Emilio Cue, members, John Brown, absent.

Jos. C. Jones, sheriff of said county and A. G. Favre, clerk of said board.

Upon motion duly made, the following resolution was unanimously adopted by the board of supervisors of Hancock county, to-wit:

Whereas, God Almighty, in His wisdom has seen fit and proper to take from our midst the Honorable John Brown, member of the Board of Supervisors from Beat 2, and,

Whereas, this Board has served with him over one year and has had occasion to come in contact with him and because of his sterling qualities we deem it suitable and proper to pass a resolution on his death.

Whereas, the said John Brown was an exemplary citizen, a faithful husband and a loving father, and inspiring in the interest of the public, on all occasions his one object was to do his duty as God Almighty gave him wisdom to see it. He has served faithfully as a citizen of his county on all occasions. He was honest and faithful in the interest of the public welfare. Wherever his duty came into contact with his personal advancement he would serve the public and overlook his personal interest.

He has served on the board of supervisors for one year and his one hope was to cast his vote in the way that would mean advancement and welfare of the people of his county.

We, of the board of supervisors, will miss him for his honest and faithful word and advice. The people of the county will miss him as a useful, honest citizen and official. His family will miss an honest, honorable and considerate relative. In the hour of bereavement of the family we offer them our sympathy and may God Almighty take him unto His bosom, while we, of this county, hope and pray that he might in the future have more citizens like John Brown.

Be it further resolved that this resolution be spread upon the minutes of this board and that a copy be sent to the widow and son of the deceased and that in commemoration of his death now adjourn, to meet tomorrow, January 19, 9 o'clock, a. m.

Be it ordered by the board that all bids advertised to be received this day be delivered to the clerk and laid over until Tuesday Morning, January 22, 1929.

BOND GIVES WAYS TO SECURE MONEY FOR STATE NEEDS

Educational Superintendent Discusses Various Taxes and Their Effects

"Ways and means to get money for running the state government is a very vital problem to every citizen just at this time," W. F. Bond, state superintendent of education says in his weekly letter. "State appropriations had to be increased for old soldiers, for schools and for maintaining the state institutions. We all believe it was necessary to increase the appropriations so that we might continue our educational progress. But we must have money to provide for this increase. We know it must come from some form of taxation. It seems that as a people we have not agreed amongst ourselves as to what form of taxation we want. But we must agree. Therefore, it is necessary that teachers, students, trustees, patrons and citizens generally begin to discuss this matter of the raising sufficient revenue to meet our obligations. We all know that as a people we are well able to raise the money necessary without hurting anybody. One trouble is some people are trying to push the burden over on the other fellow, and the other fellow is trying to push it on to somebody else. The following suggestions may be of some worth considering:

"We can pay in taxes the money necessary to operate the state government without anybody being hurt, if some plan can be devised by which every fellow will pay his share.

The ad valorem tax was started when there was nothing much but land to tax. The federal government has never used it and the trend in the various states of the nation is away from such a tax. We must have, however, for some time to come, an ad valorem tax in Mississippi. This tax should be paid on one hundred per cent of valuation of all property. If all the property in Mississippi was assessed at its real value the total assessed valuation of the state would be at least twice as much as it now is. Some people are now paying on the real value of their property, some at one-half and some at 1-4 the value. This is very unfair. If we had some way to absolutely compel every person to put in his property at its real value it would be better and many of those now advocating nothing but an ad valorem tax would have a change of heart.

"There must be other kinds of taxation in order that every fellow may do his part in helping to run the government. The income tax is a good tax and is with us to stay. Very likely the State Tax Commission should have authority to adjust the taxes when they are too low or too high. This is very unfair. If we had some way to absolutely compel every person to put in his property at its real value it would be better and many of those now advocating nothing but an ad valorem tax would have a change of heart.

"We could it be a good idea to invite to the state or the outstanding experts on taxation in the United States and ask them to make a study of our economic condition and make recommendations as to the fairest way to raise the revenue?"

part in said matter. It is further ordered that Emilia Cue, member of this board, be and he is hereby directed to sign the contract of the Hancock County Bank as county depository.

Whereas, the clerk of this board did advertise according to law for sealed bids for furnishing to Hancock County, one Burroughs Book-keeping machine, in the Sea Coast Echo, a newspaper with a general circulation in Hancock County, as per proof of publication on file, and the board having considered the said bids and finding that the bid of the Burroughs Adding Machine Co., in the sum of $1445.50 be the lowest and best bid. Be it therefore ordered that the said bid of the Burroughs Adding Machine Co., in the sum of $1445.50 be and the same is hereby accepted.

ECHOES OF WEEK FROM ST. STANISLAUS COLLEGE

St. Stanislaus News of the Week

The event of the week was Father Lord's talk to the members of the Blessed Virgin Mary Sodality Monday. Father Lord, S. J., is editor of The Queen's Work, a religious magazine published in St. Louis. This most interesting man talked to us all Monday morning in the senior study hall about the Sodality. He told us of the wonderful work being done by other sodalities and pointed out ways of reaching the goal of the society. We enjoyed every second of the talk and only hope that Father Lord will give us the pleasure of another. A feature of the meeting was the singing of religious songs to the air of popular melodies. These were composed by college and high school students belonging to the sodality.

We feel sure that Father Lord's talk will be productive of redoubled activity in our organization.

Brother Peter, accompanied by coach Kipp Kessler of St. Aloysius College went on a hunting trip last week. Both got their bag limit of game.

Mid-term examinations are now in full swing and many good results are expected. All are trying very hard for the tests. Some are even complaining of sore eyes from studying so hard.

Harold Spurl, a former student of St. Stanislaus, was a visitor to the College Thursday afternoon.

Stanislaus Basketeers Take From St. Aloysius—Game Fight With Millsaps

The Stanislaus Rock-chaws won their first two games of the 1929 season by copping the victories from St. Aloysius of New Orleans. The games were played last Friday and Saturday.

In the first game Saucier did some remarkable shooting, netting eleven field goals and four foul goals. The speed of the Red Devils playing was such that the Saints from the Crescent City were unable to get the ball in their possession but once during the entire first quarter. At the end of the first half Stanislaus had fought their way to 46-7 lead over their opponents. Then in the last half, with Coach Perkins' second string men in the fray, Aloysius was able to score more points than they had in the first period. The final score was 65-34.

ESTIMABLE LADY

GOES TO FINAL REST
AFTER LONG ILLNESSMrs. Ernest Delamain, Passes Away at New Orleans;
Burial at Bay St. Louis

Mrs. Lizette von Gohren Delamain, wife of Ernest Delamain, died at her home in New Orleans Tuesday morning, after an illness following a long indisposition. The remains were conveyed to Bay St. Louis Wednesday noon and burial took place at the family place in Cedar Rest cemetery next to the remains of her parents.

The deceased is survived by her husband, and six children, Jack, Ernest, Linnette, Frederick, Creswell, and Donald, also by a brother Herman von Gohren, of New Orleans, and two sisters, Mrs. Walter J. Gex, Sr., and Mrs. Paula Jenks, of Bay St. Louis.

Delamain was a daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. L. H. von Gohren, well known in New Orleans and residents of this city for many years, the Doctor serving as social city administrator. She resided in this city from the time of her childhood to the time of her marriage and was well known both in Bay St. Louis and New Orleans. In the latter city, where she resided, she was identified with many of life's better activities and her passing away will leave a void.

Mrs. Delamain was the mother of a large family, to whom she was typically devoted, but found time to administer to many interests that called her attention and which by so doing made this a better world in which to live.

Dr. R. J. Grubb, pastor of Christ Episcopal Church, in which the deceased was married some thirty years ago, officiated at the funeral, to which many attended. Numerous floral offerings well attested to the esteem in which the deceased was held and were expressive of the sorrow her demise has caused and also of sympathy to the bereaved husband, children, brother and sisters and other relatives.

FOR CANDY
MAKINGH. C. Babcock Opens Factory
for Home Made Candy
Here This Week

Bay St. Louis this week has seen the opening of a candy factory where home made candy of all types except the hard candies is being made and prepared for the wholesale trade. H. C. Babcock, former manager of the Hotel Weston is owner and operator of the new factory and is personally supervising the making of the candy, doing much of the preliminary work himself.

He has built a small factory building on Boardman avenue in the yard of his home and the product is being made there. Adequate equipment has been installed and the factory presents a pleasing appearance in its scrupulous cleanliness and sanitation.

Mr. Babcock is putting out for his first product some delicious bonbons in a variety of flavors. Bar candy and fudges of all kinds will be part of the regular stock while all types of candy will be made on order. The candy is boxed in attractive boxes and covered with transparent oil paper so that the product is air tight and will consequently keep indefinitely in a dry place and thus is suited for display in stores.

Mr. Babcock invites the general public to visit his factory and try his new candy, promising satisfaction with every box sold.

LITTLE BOY PETERSON
WINS FROM BURKELL

In one of the most furious battles ever witnessed in the biloxi ring Little Boy Peterson local favorite won from Young Burkell of Mobile, in the third round on a foul.

The first round was even but the second saw Young Burkell go down with a right hook to the short ribs for the count of eight. Seeing that he had knocked his man down Peterson flew across the ring to finish him and he came but in the mix up both fell as the round ended.

The third had hardly begun when Burkell tripped Peterson and as he was getting up Burkell hit him and got over him and kept hitting until Referee Russell Mauerli halted him and waved him to his corner giving the fight to Peterson on a foul.

This was such a close fight until this happened that the fans wanted to see them matched again so they will meet again next Tuesday night in a ten round bout. Bobby Ray will also appear on this card meeting Bobby White of Mobile to whom he lost a close decision Tuesday night. This being the first fight that Bobby has lost since he began fighting. Young Burkell is the boy who stopped Young Moran and held Baby Stripling to a draw.

He is editor of the Queen's Work and for the past two or three years he has devoted himself specially to the worthy cause of Sodality organization in the U. S. A.

Explains Method of Organizing Sodality. All who heard Father Lord were charmed by his wonderful personality. He spoke to the girls from 2 o'clock in the afternoon to 4 o'clock, with a break of only two or three minutes in between, and during that period Father Lord held every girl's undivided attention, while at the close of the talk all unanimously begged for more.

The methods of organizing a real live sodality that would better the school both spiritually and socially were most interesting to the girls. Father Lord, moreover, showed the girls how this could be done by the students themselves.

Father Lord understands well the psychology of interesting work with play, and the parables set to popular tunes which he himself accompanied were not the least enjoyable part of the afternoon. The girls left the lecture thrilled and filled with the desire to become leaders and to do something for themselves, their sodality and their school.

Father Lord is now in New Orleans. He is working there for the same cause which he so ably outlined to us. We envy the boys and girls there the treat they are now enjoying and only hope that they may soon again have the great privilege and pleasure of hearing Father Lord.

Weather Prevents Basketball Practice. Rain and the dampness of the weather have prevented the girls from doing much practicing out on the court. Coach Mary, however, kept her team pretty busy last Tuesday afternoon in the basement. The girls were all panting for breath after the running, jumping and various other exercises which she made them go through.

Here's hoping the weather clears so that the teams can get in their again for the several games that are scheduled for them in the near future.

Preparing for Feast of St. Agnes. The twenty-first of January is the Feast of St. Agnes and her sodality is preparing to celebrate her feast in a worthy manner. It has not yet been positively decided whether or not the reception of new members into the sodality is to take place on next Monday.

Former Bay Resident
Passes Away at Houston

Friends of the Delcuze family will learn with regret of the passing away of Mrs. Eleanor Patenotte Delcuze, widow of Ferdinand Delcuze, who died a few days ago at her adopted home in Houston, Texas, a native of this Coast section, aged 65 years.

Mrs. Delcuze is survived by five daughters and two sons and will perhaps be better known as the mother of Mr. Leon Delcuze, who, like his father, was identified with the local activities of the L. & N. R. R., and for the past twenty years prominently identified with the oil producing industry of the Lone Star state.

THANKFUL RECOGNITION.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph J. Holzer desire to express their thanks to the many neighbors and friends at Bay St. Louis, who so kindly assisted them during the accident to their son, Rudolph Jr., and Mr. Weikam, and also wishes to extend their sincere appreciation to Dr. Smith, who through his careful attention and the assistance rendered by the neighbors, made it possible to avert a very serious accident.
